

Welcome to the ISSX Learning Center—your central online venue to interact with all virtual ISSX educational content and events. To get started, log into your account using your ISSX username and password. If you don't have an ISSX account, navigate to issx.org to create an account and use that information to log in.

ISSX Members receive free access to all ISSX webinars as well as steep discounts on all other ISSX Learning Center content. If you aren't yet a member, join as a regular member for $155 USD or as a student/postdoc member for $25 USD.

Once you have logged in, click through the homepage to view past and upcoming webinars, short courses, virtual workshops, and virtual events. You can also use the catalog search feature on the sidebar to search by interest category, type of product, or to search by a keyword.

To register for a product, click "register" and select "complete registration now" to finalize your registration, or add it to your cart to register for multiple products at once. You can also select "More Information" to review a summary and outline of the product. The handouts tab includes any slides or materials available from the speaker, and the content tab includes the link to the recording or the option to join live if you are attending a live event, as well as the survey, and the certificate of attendance which can be shared with your supervisor once complete.

Once you've registered for a product, you'll be able to view the product in your dashboard. You can filter products in your dashboard by format, status, or product type. You can always come back to previous registered products to review them again.

The ISSX Learning Center is a tool designed for your educational needs. If you want to update your interest categories, navigate to your profile using the sidebar. Here, you can indicate your level of interest for our five top interest categories, and update your time zone or name if needed.

For helpful tips, you can visit our frequently asked questions, by clicking "FAQs" on the sidebar. Still have additional questions? Reach out to the ISSX team at information@issx.org for assistance.

We hope you'll enjoy your experience in the ISSX Learning Center!